
Run your teaching business, not a pile of spreadsheets.

If you teach on your own, DanceFlow gives you the same tools studios use for scheduling, clients, packages, payments and documents, so more of your week goes to teaching.

Try it on your own schedule

01 Get found

Publish a public profile that can appear in Discover and take intro lesson requests from dancers looking for a teacher.

02 Teach

Keep private lessons and classes on one schedule, with confirmations and changes sent for you.

03 Keep students coming back

Track packages, take payment, collect signed waivers and send follow-up, with ARIA pointing out renewals and pending requests.

DanceFlow's plans are called studio plans. As an independent instructor you use the same plans and tools, and your workspace can carry your own teaching name.
